

Please keep the current rules in place for Cellular phones on aircraft. I don't want to hear 10 different conversations going on around me during a given flight. The Nextels would be particular annoying because of those chirps that they put out everytime you talk into it.